

FESSH Travel Award 2022

Francesco Marco Kostoris, MD, FEBHS

Hand Surgery Department Santa Maria degli Angeli Hospital
Pordenone, Italy

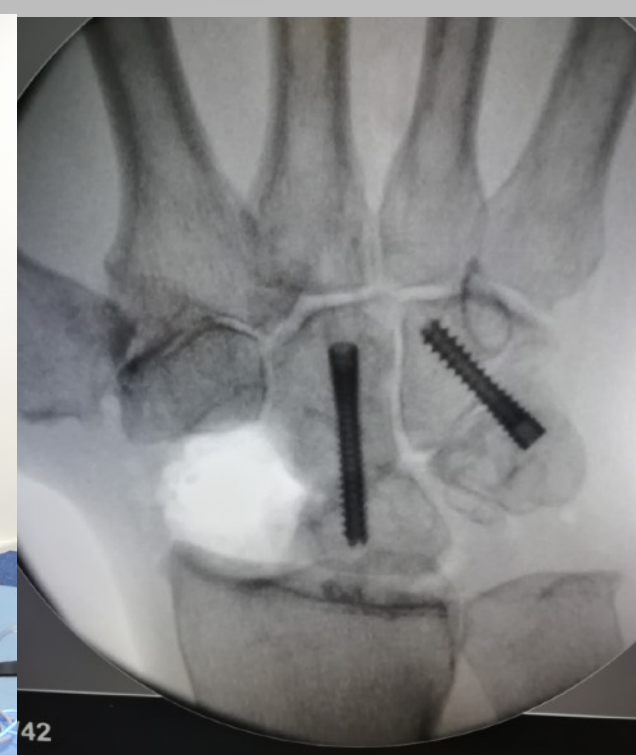

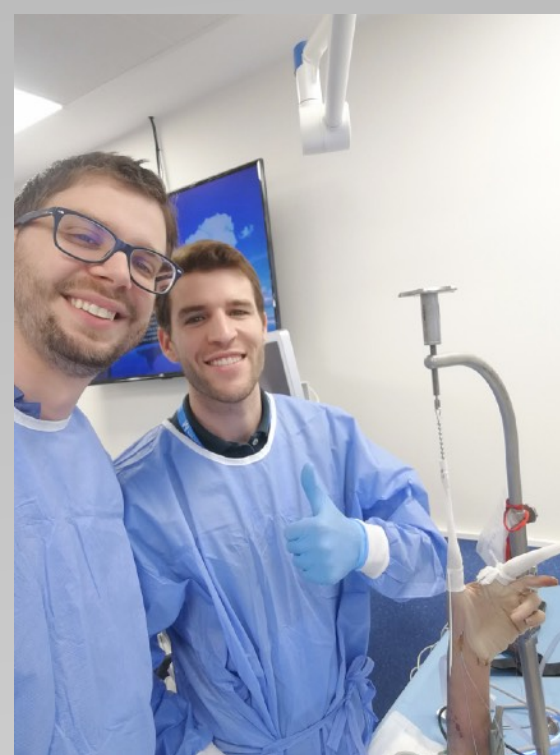

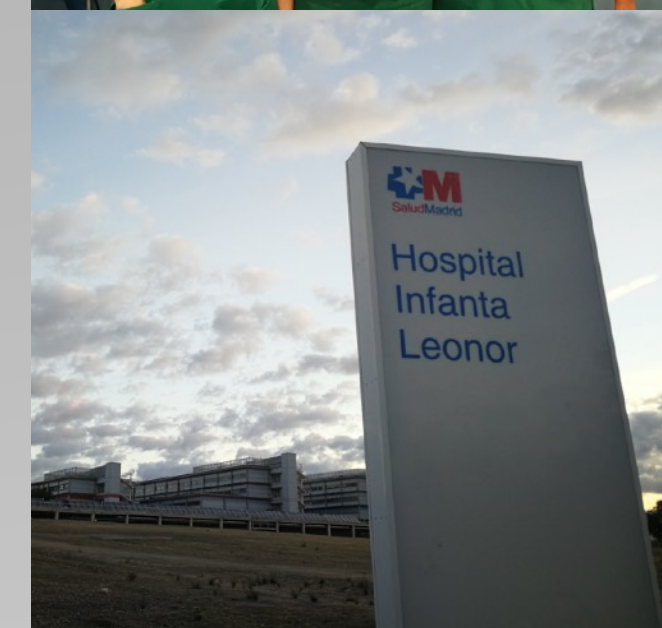

Madrid 2nd-15th November. Hospital Infanta Leonor, Hospital Universitario Quironsalud, Centro Olympia

Supported by FESSH Travel Award I had the opportunity to visit the Hand Surgery Team led by prof. Fernando Corella in Madrid, Spain. This team treats all the hand pathologies with a particular focus on the arthroscopic procedures. The team is worldwide known for his innovative techniques, among them the most important is the arthroscopic reconstruction of the scapholunate ligament. I had the opportunity to assist several procedures, among them:

- Arthroscopic assisted distal radius fracture reduction and osteosynthesis
- Arthroscopic capsulodesis for SL ligament lesion
- Arthroscopic assisted trapeziectomy and suspensionplasty
- Arthroscopic assisted scaphoidectomy and 4CF
- MCPJ fusion
- Carpal tunnel release (open technique)
- Diagnostic arthroscopy

The team creates friendly environment and all the surgeons are very available to answer all the questions discussing experiences and ideas.

In Madrid I also had the opportunity to participate to the Madrid Advanced Wrist Arthroscopy Course. It was an amazing occasion to meet several expert arthroscopic surgeons and to learn a lot of new techniques and share new ideas.

I would like to thank prof. Corella from the bottom of my heart for his patience, kindness, availability and for encouraging and supporting me during my fellowship and even after. He has been inspiring and will influence not only my practice but also my life. A special thanks to dr. Montserrat Ocampos for his kindness and for sharing her expertise.

Lastly I am grateful to FESSH for making possible this incredible experience.

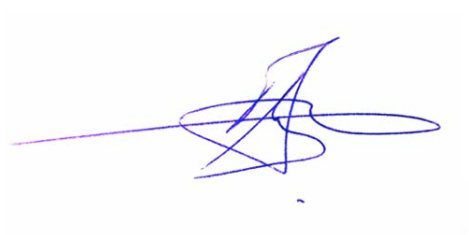

Certificate for Fellowship

Dr. Francesco Marco Kostoris Orthopedic Surgeon at Hand Surgery and Microsurgery Department -Santa Maria degli Angeli Hospital (Pordenone,Italy), with Italian nationality, has done a Visiting Fellowship in the Department of Orthopaedics and Traumatology, University Hospital Infanta Leonor, Madrid, Spain for a period 1th November 2022 to 15th November 2022

During his tenure, he was actively involved in the Outpatient Clinic examinations and in the Operating rooms. He assisted several cases of Wrist arthroscopy and has done the 8th edition of the Advance Course of Wrist arthroscopy organized at Universidad Complutense de Madrid.

I really appreciate his enthusiasm towards his work and duties.

I wish him all the luck for his bright future ahead.

Dr. Fernando Corella

Orthopedic and Trauma Department, Hospital Universitario Infanta Leonor,

Surgery Department, School of Medicine, Universidad Complutense de

Madrid.

